Bryan refused to ride a camel in a dry parade at Columbus Ohio. Some ultra political prohibitionists decline to pose as dry as a camel would make them appear tho willing to cross any desert for a coin or nomination.

The continuance of Home Demonstration Service is being sought by an organizer for the state agricultural college and the women who feel that they have been greatly benefited by the service in the past year.

Just how many housewives and young women desiring to learn how to conduct the economic affairs of a home, have been benefited in this county, we do not know, but that a large number who, having learned, have imparted valuable information they have received to others, there can be not the slightest doubt. In the matter of poultry alone the value of service has far exceeded the total expense and in canning one can find a number of women who have profited by the demonstrations. Putting up fruit so that it will stay put until desired for use, is an art. It is hard work, hot work, expensive and if not properly done canning loses in the several particulars and no woman but who dislikes to have the fruit she has spent time and money on, "work." Then too, in the matter of clothing a great saving has been taught many by the county head of the department. In cities the piecing together of parts of several discarded garments has turned out a nice looking and servicable suit or coat for the juvenile or older person in the family. Not alone in the country is the knowledge of how to "make auld clothes look as well as the new" but in towns it is a valuable discovery if practiced. Personal hygiene is another feature of the work of a county home demonstrator which is decidedly worth while; food and dietetics, care of teeth, hot lunch for school children in cold weather, planning meals, in fact all the several things taught and demonstrated are more than worth while and it is to be regretted that more women do not take an active hand in the game. True, the Home Demonstrator provided must call on the Agricultural College for specialists in many cases and in several has been imposed on by the college sending out half baked experts discredit the whole scheme, but no blame can attach to her for the situation when she has nothing to do with the selection of the 'expert'.

The country court will undoubtedly assist in perpetuating this valuable plan for enlightening our women on subjects on which we all have more or less interest and those who have already benefited by the lectures, demonstrations and personal assistance of the county demonstrator of home economics will see to it that the membership in the organization is not only sufficient to insure its continuance but greatly extended, as it should be.

Henry Ford: "Why do vast masses of mankind allow themselves to be marched off to the slaughter, when in their hearts they know that when they die it will be in no good cause, but will be merely to satisfy the ambition of some greedy individual?"

The War-time
Six

THE handsomest car on the road—and the best performer in its price class, too! Let us prove it

Lots of people still think of the Oldsmobile as a high-priced car. That is natural.

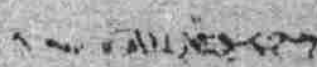

The Oldsmobile Six is a medium-priced car—in spite of the fact that it looks and behaves like a high-priced car.

It is a light-weight car—a tire saver and a gasoline saver. Economical to buy—economical to operate and maintain. It is the war-time choice of the people who are practicing real economy.

Convenience of A Silo

Why not figure on having a silo for next winter's feeding? This will not require an extra acreage of corn or other crops.

Every farmer grows a crop which will justify him in putting in from six to ten acres of corn into a silo, insuring a sufficiency of green feed for the next winter's use.

The fellow who has hitched a team to a wagon every morning during the winter months and gone to the field and loaded a load of shock corn will appreciate a silo.

The worst chore on the farm in the winter is digging corn shocks out of snow and ice, and after the work is all done, the feed is of low grade. The silo makes good feed and convenient feeding.

A farmer in Newton county had $19,000 hid about his house. The house burned, so did the cash. He is now trying to persuade the government to give him a bushel of good money for a handful of ashes.

A law and committee is after vice dispensers at Hannibal. More than $6000 in fines have been collected and the drag net is still being drug.

Aubrey Sterner is taking his vacation and enjoying himself in the harvest fields and hauling corn.

Wheat is nine tenths in the shock, oats about ready for binder and corn fairly good, some excellent. Gardens suffering for rain in some parts of the county. Brunswick neighborhood has been favored with more rain than any other part of the country, likewise floods.
